

The Kid and the Robot
Authors: Max Pacheco and Steven Salas

This is the story of a kid named Robert that lost his arm in a car accident. One day he met Stuart, a robot, in the park of the town. That day they spent a lot of time together playing in the park and talking, after that day, they used to play every day in that park after school and they were very happy.

One day Stuart noticed that Robert was sad so he asked him: "Hey Robert what happened, are you OK?" and Robert said: "I'm sad because I lost my arm, I lost it in a car accident one month ago before I met you and I really miss it", after that they went home very sad. The next day when they arrived from school Stuart said: " Hey Robert, do you want to come to my home today, I have a surprise for you", so that day Robert went to Stuart's home. In his home Stuart had a laboratory so he showed it to Robert. In his lab in a big table Stuart had a new mechanical arm, an arm that he created for Robert, so Robert put his new arm on. That day they played all the afternoon and spent more time together than the any other day.

After that Robert went home. When he arrived, his parents freaked out when they saw that arm made of steel, so they asked him:" Robert what happened with your arm?, are you OK?, who did this?", and he replied: "my friend Stuart gave it to me, he made it in his laboratory"

His parents were very angry and they forbid Robert to talk with Stuart again.

The parents thought that Stuart had bad intentions , but that wasn't true. Stuart only wanted to see Robert happy again.

The days went by and every day they missed each other more and more. One day, tired of all this, Robert escaped from his house and went to Stuart's house, that day they spent a lot of time together playing in the laboratory and in the park. When Robert's parents came home they noticed that Robert wasn't in his room so they freaked out and called the police. When the police found Robert he was in the park, playing with Stuart. The police caught Stuart and locked him in a cell.

After that Robert felt very sad every day because he wanted to see his friend, so one day he decided to visit Stuart in jail, after that day, every afternoon after school, Robert used to visit Stuart and spend time with him. One day his parents caught him and punished him, they thought that Stuart was a bad influence.

One day after a lot of time trying to convince his parents to let him see Stuart, Robert's parents accepted to know Stuart, and talk to him, that day Stuart apologized for the new arm, he said that he just wanted to see Robert happy, and Robert said that he loved his new arm, that was better than the other one. His parents finally accepted Robert and Stuart's friendship, they said that Stuart was innocent, so they removed all charges against Stuart.

After that their days returned to normal. They used to play all afternoons together, even Robert's parents invited Stuart some times to the house to play there and spend more time together, since that day Stuart and Robert never separated and in the present they study in college and live together, even his parents love Stuart and always invite him to all the holidays and every weekend he spends time with Robert and his family and they lived together and happy for the rest of their life.
